Tower balloon test is set for Saturday

By ALISON ALOISIO

The company that wants to build a cellular tower in Bethel will float a trial balloon Saturday morning to gauge local reaction to the project.

Spectrum Resources Towers will put up a balloon at each of two possible sites near the Bailey Road, one at a height of 150 feet and the other at 190 feet.

The balloons are intended to give residents an idea of the height and visual impact of the tower. They will also be used to create a computer simulation of the tower itself as it would appear on each of the sites. The property is owned by Robert and Cynthia Blake.

The tower plan, currently under consideration by the Planning Board, has already drawn opposition from some Bailey Road residents. One couple, John and Janet Todd of Bethel, recently lost a contract to sell a lot near the site because of the buyers' concerns about the structure.

The intended buyers, Jim and Sheryl Rose, suspended their purchase and sale agreement after hearing a presentation on the tower at the May 9 board meeting.

As Jim Rose wrote his realtor, "A 190-foot steel tower with six antennae attached and protruding 100 feet above the canopy of trees I do feel would be a focal point, and would destroy the integrity of the Assessment in final school budget up 4.92 percent

By ALISON ALOISIO

SAD44 residents will go to the polls June 26 to vote on a new General Fund and Adult Education budget. If they approve it, the overall local school assessment will increase 4.92 percent.

The Board of Directors Tuesday approved an $8.2 million general fund budget for FY'02. The Adult Education budget is just over $217,000.

What does the budget mean for assessments in individual towns? Everything from a slight decrease in three towns to a 9.71 percent

The General Fund budget includes an additional $23,000 to pick up the cost of additional music instruction at the Andover Elementary School, and a THS computer technician previously paid through grant funds. Also included are negotiated raises for instructional and support staff.

A public hearing on the budget proposal is scheduled for June 14 at 7 p.m. at the Telstar library.

June festival will promote river as a fishing resource

By ALISON ALOISIO

Now that the Androscoggin River is accepted by many as a great boating resource, "the next step is to understand it's a great fishing resource," said Steve Wight, a member of the Androscoggin Watershed Council.

That next step will take the form of the first annual Androscoggin River Watershed Fish Festival, scheduled for June 16 and 17 in Bethel.

The event will be headquartered on a green located next to the Chamber of Commerce office, with satellite locations at Bethel Outdoor Adventure and Campground and Pleasant River Campground.

Activities will include lessons in bass and trout fishing; catching, cleaning and cooking instructions, as well as fly-tying and casting. There will also be demonstrations of river trips and demonstrations by registered Maine and New Hampshire guides and outfitters. Other ac-

Planning and patience nurture this Upton garden

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Spring is a time to try a gardener's patience. It is the annual spring ritual of waiting — waiting to see if old friends will poke their heads through the ground, waiting to see where volunteers have chosen to make a home, waiting to see if there is life in a tangle of dead twigs.

For Joy and Jim Yarnell, gardeners in Upton, this spring has also been a time of mourning. The winter was hard on the deer, and the deer were hard on the garden.

And will help see it through the losses of a difficult winter

As Joy walks through her garden she toes disdainfully at stumps of cedar and yew she had to cut recently. She points at lilacs that should be setting blossoms. All were sacrificed to the deer and the hard winter. Phlox, that for twenty years returned faithfully, rotted under the late-melting snow. A juniper withers where a vole has made feast on the roots.

While the garden is beautiful to a visitor's eyes, Joy sees the holes that are empty of the topiary that helped define the space. In the Yarnells' view, the missing structure the trees and shrubs added was vital to the whole presence of the garden.

The Yarnells retired to Upton twenty years ago after careers as architects. Their garden reflects the sensibilities of architects. It is more than a garden. It is a landscape.

"People don't think of the yard as a whole, as a garden," Joy said. "They think of a garden as a rec-

Playoffs begin for Rebels

Telstar's varsity baseball and softball teams enter Western Class C playoff action next week. And Saturday, several members of the track team will compete in the Class C state meet at the University of Maine. The softball team, ranked #14, will play #11 Mt. Abram Saturday at Mt. Abram.

On Thursday, June 7, the baseball team, ranked #2, will host Winthrop, Madison or Dirigo, depending on the outcome of their games earlier in the week.

Ten tracksters will compete in Orono Saturday. Runner Katie Wight won the 400 meters in Class C regional competition this past weekend (for complete results, see page 15).

Budget

Three directors opposed

The board vote on the budget was not unanimous. Phil Korhonen of Woodstock, who voted against the salary agreement earlier this month, opposed the proposal.

Also voting against it were Jill Rundle and Diane Smith of Bethel. Rundle argued Tuesday in favor of adding a pre-kindergarten program, at a cost of between $109,000 and $181,000. The program, she said, would provide a "very strong foundation" for all students entering school. She cited studies showing the benefits of a comprehensive pre-school program.

Other directors said they supported the idea, but had concerns about the added cost to this year's budget or about the sudden impact in the fall on private pre-schools in the area. It would be better to plan for the program over a longer period of time, they said.

Smith spoke in favor of adding a gifted-and-talented program at a cost of $43,000. Such a program has been discussed from time to time in recent budget years, but has always fallen by the wayside.

"I know a lot of parents sending their kids to private school because we won't address (the issue)," she said.

Smith said many g/t students are bored with regular classes because teachers are forced to focus on the needs of the majority.

But Board Chair Kelly Scotti of Andover said the g/t program as proposed would not address those concerns. It is designed as an after-school program that matches students with a mentor.

The directors eventually approved the budget without either program. Several said, however, the programs should be studied as part of a district strategic planning process that is about to get underway.

MOLLYOCKETT DAY CLASSIC

To the Editor:

The applications for this year's Key Bank Mollyockett Day Classic Road Run and Walk event are now available at the Chamber of Commerce office (next to Casablanca Cinema) or by calling 824-2282. In order to guarantee a race T-shirt this year, early registration is encouraged by July 13. This year's Classic is Saturday, July 21, and begins at 8:30 a.m. with a one-mile fun run for boys and girls ages 14 and under. The course covers a single gentle loop through the village. The start for the five-mile run and three-mile walk event will be 9 a.m., a challenging loop that includes infamous Paradise Hill. Both races begin and end at the village green in front of the Bethel Inn & Country Club and are divided into several age divisions. In addition to the Key Bank Mollyockett Day Classic, the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has some wonderful opportunities for you to become involved in the community and share your time and interests with "guests" and members of the community.

Volunteers are needed to assist visitors who come to the chamber for directions and information about the area such as where to eat, hike, bike, stay, the history of the area, where to find antiques, activities, special events and much more.

Volunteers represent over 200 members of the chamber. The volunteer program offers the opportunity to learn about the community, spend time with other area residents, enjoy some perks of being a volunteer and to promote a beautiful part of the state of Maine. Any questions, please call Anita at 824-2282.

MUSIC MAKERS' ACTIVITIES

To the Editor:

The summer music season for the Mahoosuc Music Makers has begun with the band's participation in the Memorial Day celebrations in Locke Mills, Bryant Pond and Bethel. A special thank you to Robert Lowell, of Lowell's Saw Shop, for the donation of the trailer for the band to ride on; to Maine Line Products for the vehicle to pull us; and drivers Rick Whitney and Eric Wight. We would also like to thank Eleanor Brooks and Madeline Hunt for handling our bake sale earlier in May and to the Bethel Foodliner for allowing us to set up our table in the store. We thank all who contributed food items, those who purchased the wares and those who made contributions. The funds raised assist us with purchasing new music, providing a stipend for our director, and keeping equipment in repair.

The band is in need of some additional instruments and plans to initiate a fundraiser this summer for the purchase of a tuba.

We invite anyone from the community, both year-round residents and summer vacationers, to join us for our rehearsals on Monday evenings, 7 to 8:30 p.m., in the basement of the West Parish Congregational Church, Church Street, Bethel.

Look for us this summer at the Mollyockett Day celebration; at the Mahoosuc Arts Concert Series; and for our end-of-the-summer evening concert in the bandstand on Monday, Aug. 20. For more information, contact Nancy Morris (824-2043) or Brian Dunham (824-8684). We thank the Bethel community for continued support of their community band.

Get the jump on listening for frogs

Everyone in Maine is familiar with the chirping song of spring peepers on a warm June night. But many of us may not listen closely enough to notice the 11 other frog and toad species that join the chorus throughout the summer.

From the deep "bruuumm-bruuumm" of the bullfrog to the rubber-band-like twang of the green frog and the duck chuckle of the wood frog, each of these species has its own unique call that is easy to distinguish once you know what to listen for.

Mainly the siren calls of mating males, frog songs also serve as warnings, to defend territory and just plain joyous celebration of summer, if you want to get downright unscientific about it.

Listening to frog calls offers more than just musical entertainment and a way to show off to your friends. It can also provide valuable scientific data to frog researchers — also known as herpetologists.

In recent years, frog and other amphibian populations have declined all around the world, with several species disappearing altogether, particularly in Australia and Central America. Here in the United States, the federal government lists 18 species of amphibians as threatened or endangered, with many more species awaiting listing. And incidences of malformed frogs — with extra, fused or missing limbs, misshapen heads and other abnormalities — have popped up around the world and in over half of the US states, including Maine.

Scientists don't know exactly what is causing these declines and deformities, but suspected culprits include: habitat loss; climate change; increased UV-B radiation from thinning ozone; pesticides and other chemical pollution; acid rain; competition with and predation by exotic species; disease; and harvest and trade for food, pets, aphrodisiacs and biology classes.

No matter what the cause, or causes, it does seem clear that human activity is decimating amphibians all around the world. This is not only bad news for the frogs (and those of us who think frogs are pretty neat), but also for the fish and birds and mammals that eat those fish and birds and mammals. Not to mention that frogs feast on mosquitoes, flies and other bugs we find so pesky. With the decline of amphibians, the whole food web suffers.

Ecologists view frogs as indicators of overall environmental quality because they absorb chemicals and radiation directly through the unprotected skin, making them particularly sensitive to environmental contamination. Some have even suggested that frogs may serve as a sort of canary in the coalmine — a warning sign of the ecological damage that may soon impact all species on earth, including humans.

To help keep track of healthy and not-so-healthy amphibian populations, the U.S. Geological Survey sponsors FrogWatch, a program that provides people with an opportunity to monitor frogs in their local area and report their data. All it takes is a good ear for frog calls and a few minutes after dark throughout the summer. Log on to www.mp2-pwrc.usgs.gov/FrogWatch/ to learn more about this program, and keep your ears peeled for our amphibious friends.

Briefly

ASC to sell Steamboat, reorganize

NEWRY—The American Skiing Company Wednesday announced a strategic plan to improve its capital structure and enhance future operating performance. Components include: a plan to sell the Steamboat ski resort in Colorado; reorganization and staff reduction to save $5 million; redeployment of management and capital resources to emphasize the integration and growth of resort village development and operations; amendments to the company's senior credit facilities and an anticipated new capital infusion to enhance financial flexibility. ASC has retained Credit Suisse First Boston to assist with marketing Steamboat, the sale of which is anticipated to close prior to the end of 2001. The company is also converting 160 full-time year-round positions to seasonal ones, and has eliminated approximately 70 full time year-round positions. Prior to the reorganization, ASC had approximately 1,600 full time, year-round positions. Management redeployment will focus on building out resort villages and integrating real estate development with resort village amenities. Marketing efforts will emphasize the complete resort experience, targeting increased destination business. ASC is also revising its real estate business plan, with components possibly to include restructuring the $73 million loan facility to substantially reduce interest rates and extend amortization and maturity dates.

Cole resignation received

BETHEL—The Board of Selectmen last Thursday received an official letter of resignation from Town Manager Scott Cole. Cole has accepted a similar position with the town of Farmington. The resignation is effective June 30, but Cole will use 10 and one-half vacation days, making his last day on or about June 19. He indicated informally to selectmen last week he intended to go to Farmington. Cole served as Bethel's town manager for two years.

Asbestos company fined

AUGUSTA—The company that performed asbestos-abatement work at Telstar High School last year has been assessed a $3,500 fine by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection for violations discovered last July. New Meadows Abatement, Inc. of Bath received the fine after DEP found 160 open asbestos waste disposal bags. The bags contained waste that was not adequately wet, according to DEP.

Musicians sought for graduation

BETHEL—The Telstar High School Concert Band will play Pomp and Circumstance at graduation on June 8. Telstar alumni instrumentalists and members of the Mahosuc Music Makers are also invited to take part. Anyone interested should contact Jennifer Christiansen at 824-2136.

National Trails Day Saturday

NEWRY—A celebration of trails and trail-lovers will take place June 2 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Bear River Grange Hall on Route 26. Hosted by the Maine Appalachian Trail Club, event activities will include booths, demonstrations, games, workshops, hikes and trailwork trips in the Mahosuc Mountains. Open houses planned WOODSTOCK—An open house is scheduled for Friday, June 1, at the Woodstock Elementary School from 6 to 7:30 p.m. to honor Patricia Whitman. Whitman has worked for SAD44 for 28 and one-half years. For more information call 665-2228 or 665-2570. A second gathering is planned for June 3 from 2 to 4 p.m. at Telstar to honor retiring teachers Rodney Abbott and Sherri Higgins.

Shortage of workers, housing

YORK—Southern Maine businesses are expecting a strong summer tourist season, but are struggling with a shortage of workers and of places for them to live. Today, boarding houses that once dotted Short Sands Beach have been restored to year-round hotels or converted into condominiums. Meanwhile, many of the private homeowners who once took in summer boarders have decided to turn their homes into bed and breakfasts. Mary Ann and James Rogan used to rent rooms in their hotel, the Massachusetts House, to summer workers. About 10 years ago, they sold the hotel, which has since been converted to condominiums. "I don't know anybody who will rent to a group of kids anymore," Mary Ann Rogan said. One motel and restaurant owner hires foreign workers, and must find them a place to live and provide them with bicycles for transportation.

N.H. Route 2 project coming sooner?

SHELburne, N.H.—Upgrade projects for Route 2 in New Hampshire may be pushed up by two years to 2005, under a recent proposal from New Hampshire's acting commissioner of transportation. The $3.25 million projects would span a three-mile stretch of the highway in Jefferson and Randolph. The new timetable calls for a series of public hearings beginning this fall.

Gem show scheduled

BETHEL—The Western Maine Gem, Mineral & Jewelry Festival will take place July 14 and 15 at the Crescent Park School. The event features displays of Maine gems, minerals and fossils. Activities will include guided field trips to local mines and quarries. For more information call 665-2759.

AMC huts opening

PINKHAM NOTCH, N.H.—The Appalachian Mountain Club's White Mountain huts open to the public for the full-service season June 1. This year, hikers will find a newly constructed Galehead Hut, which is open for its second season and replaces an older structure previously on the site. AMC huts are staffed and provide simple bunkroom accommodations, home-cooked breakfasts and dinners. The huts also serve as centers for information and education, with a focus on the natural and cultural history of the mountains. The full-service season runs from June 1 to early or mid-autumn. Summer season rates range from $48 to $66 per person per night for adults, and $33 to $44 for children. For more information call (603) 466-2727, or visit the AMC's home page at www.outdoors.org.

New president for Outward Bound

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Board of Trustees of the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School has announced the election of Galen D. Todd of Ridgefield, Conn. As the school's fourth president, he will take office on May 31. Todd holds bachelor's degrees in biology and forestry, and a master's degree in forest resource management, all from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He worked for the Champion International Corporation, most recently as vice president and business manager of the sales and distribution division. He is a 1968 alumnus of a 26-day Maine/Sea course, and has been a supporter of the school for the past three decades.

Togus hours changed

TOGUS—Beginning this week the Togus Regional Office toll free telephone service for veterans' benefit information (800-827-1000) will change its hours of operation. The new hours will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Previous hours were 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The reduction in hours will provide more staff time for processing claims, to improve timeliness of the procedure.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Trucker cited for log falsification

At 11:25 p.m. on May 24 police stopped a tractor trailer on Route 2 for speeding 58 mph in a 35 mph zone. It was found the driver had falsified his logbook. The operator, Theodore Nutter, 37, of Wentworth, N.H. was summoned for speeding and issued a summons from the State Police for the false logbook.

Thursday, May 24

At 10:48 p.m. a complainant reported he had been pushed by a subject, who also reportedly ripped the telephone from his hand. Brenda Taylor, 31, of Bethel was arrested and charged with assault and obstructing the report of a crime or injury.

Friday, May 25

At 5:55 a.m. police stopped a vehicle on Route 2 for speeding 59 mph in a 35 mph zone. A license check revealed a suspended status for failure to file insurance and failure to pay a fine. Roenell C. Cummings Jr., 45, of West Paris was arrested and taken to the Oxford County Jail.

At 6 p.m. police received the second report of the day from a complainant on the Songo Pond Road that her neighbor's dog was loose and at her residence. The animal control officer issued Tamara Allen a summons for unlicensed dogs (two counts), dog at large and failure to vaccinate (two counts).

Saturday, May 26

At 8:16 p.m. a subject was stopped on Route 232 for speeding 56 mph in a 35 mph zone. He showed signs of intoxication and was given field sobriety tests, and then a breath test. Michael H. Lannon, 42, of Andover was charged with OUI.

At 9 a.m. a report was received that there was a large rat on the lawn of a business. On arrival, the ACO concluded from the tracks that the animal was a muskrat that apparently came up from the river.

MISTY-EVENING—Afters weeks of nearly record dry weather, badly needed clouds and rain returned to the area Sunday night. A brief break in the clouds is predicted for today (Thursday), but the moist weather is expected to return and remain through the weekend.

Correction

Jaws training. The recent Jaws of Life training held at Telstar Regional High School and on Chadbourne Tree Farm property was sponsored by NOMA. The course was presented by Peter Hayes of the North American Rescue Institute of Conway, N.H., and attended by 29 area firefighters representing eight fire departments.

tangle in the back yard. In England, a garden is your whole property. They say, "We're going out into the garden," not "we're going out into the yard."

The garden surrounding the Yarnells' home flows out into the woods beyond. The boundary of where the garden stops and the woods begin is never clear. Paths lined with primroses meander around islands of shrubs and flowers, inviting you to explore just a bit further. They beckon you to wander down to a stream lined with bright marsh marigolds and ferns. The banks of the stream are as much a part of the garden as the beds of iris and day lilies. The paths lead to a footbridge and across into the woods beyond.

Trees create cool rooms of shade. Boulders help moderate the temperature. Splashes of sunny lawn lead to tiny mountains of shrubs, surrounded by a landscape of flowers.

The spring ephemerals, skunk cabbage, trillium, wood anemone, bunch berry, blue beard lily, star flower, and lady's slipper provide many of the early blossoms in the garden. These humble natives are as welcome in the garden as the traditional nursery specimens. Other natives, including Joe Pye weed and meadow rue will follow in good time.

Shrubs and trees form the backbone of the garden. Exotic junipers and rhododendrons share billing with native blueberries and pink azalea, a native rhododendron that decorates moose-mucks with magenta blossoms this time of year.

Under their shelter grow the perennials. Some, like hosta and European ginger, flourish in the shade. Others need plenty of sun.

And volunteers are everywhere. They are gifts from seed, spread by the wind, by ants, by birds. Promiscuous columbines, their lineage hidden until they offer a hint with their flowers, grow willy-nilly. Violets, monkshood, delphinium, and a host of others grow far from the homes their parents were given in years past. Annuals, like forget-me-nots, self-sow as well.

The garden is also a collection of memories. There are plants given to the Yarnells by friends no longer here — gifts from local legends such as Bernard McLaughlin and local friends such as Barbara Brown. As in many great gardens, it is a tapestry that recalls people who have shared a love of landscape with the Yarnells.

Joy Yarnell checks a hole for signs of voles next to an azalea and a patch of frog's bellies, one of the many native plants at home in her garden. The primroses were in full bloom last week, allowing for a walk down the primrose path.

Jim Yarnell worked as the director of campus planning at Cornell University. In that position, the architecture of the landscape was as much a concern as the architecture of the buildings.

"I appreciate gardens that are obviously well organized, the same as architecture should be well organized. You shouldn't have to wonder what's going on or why, unless you purposely design a garden that is crazy for some humorous reason. I think that people appreciate sensing a certain degree of order. Most of the great gardens have that."

"Your trees and shrubbery help give a sense of space, defining the volumes that are enclosed in the space," Joy added.

Water, Jim said, is an important landscaping material that is frequently overlooked. The Yarnells dug a pond last summer, and are beginning to landscape the banks now, but Jim points out that a something as small as a birdbath can have the same effect.

"Water is a mirror so that you get a reflection of whatever's on the other side," he said. "It's also a landscape material that can have a very calming effect. Birds and animals love it. It reflects the weather."

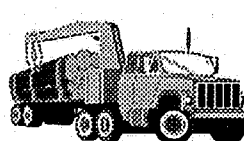

Another frequently overlooked element they consider important to a garden is aroma, and not just the pleasant. A corner of the garden is home to a western skunk cabbage, smelling like day-old meat. But there is plenty of sweet-smelling material, from lilacs to roses, as well.

Besides the deer, who helped themselves to the trees and shrubs last winter, a number of other wild things make the garden home. There are birds, chipmunks, squirrels, and a snake.

Hopefully, the snake will take care of some of the voles. For the deer, there are bits of cotton soaked with coyote urine.

But for the structural havoc their hunger created, there is only time and patience. Great gardens require a vision of what might be and the patience of years.

THE MILL POND AT THE FOOT OF MILL HILL appears as it looked ca. 1900. This site, now part of the Bethel Inn golf course, is near where the first grist and saw mills were established in 1774 when Bethel was founded. This photograph is among thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The Society is currently raising funds to establish its Regional History Center and to renovate the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House on Broad Street, which now houses exhibit galleries, offices, and the museum shop. Completion of this project will provide for improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, genealogical and historical research, and traditional crafts. Once the Center is fully operational it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. To learn more about this project, call the Society at (207) 824-2908 or (80) 824-2910, write to the e-mail address: bethelhistory@ctel.net or visit the Web site at www.ctel.net/~bethelhistory lots... If the tower does not go in, we'll be back, but in the meantime, we will look at other possibilities." Since then, a second site about 350 feet north of the original site has been proposed. The new site is slightly higher in elevation and would require a 150-foot tower, instead of the 190-foot structure initially proposed.

Bill Fricke of ATC Realty, representing SRT, told planners last week a tower placed at the new location would not be visible over the trees from the Todd's lot. If enough trees are preserved in clearing a house site, said Fricke, they should still provide sufficient screening. Moving the tower location will also reduce the visibility from an existing nearby house, which sits on an open lot, he said. A public hearing on the tower will be scheduled after the balloon test. The balloons will be put up at about 8 a.m. Saturday and left in place until noon. Sunday will be the backup date, in case of rain, fog or wind, Fricke said.

tivities include presentations by river ecology and entomology specialists from the U.S. Forest Service and the Mead Corporation. Other events will include talks by Julia Hunter, author of "Fly Rod Crosby: the woman who marketed Maine," and Alice Arlen, author of "She Took to the Woods" (a biography of Louise Dickinson-Rich) and "In the Maine Woods: insider's guide to traditional Maine sporting camp." Children will be invited to take part in a hands-on fish release, a highlight of the festival. Fishing licenses are not required, because the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife has declared a free fishing weekend for both residents and non-residents. Emily Beers of the chamber said interest in the river as a recreational resource is growing, "and we want to encourage people to understand the environmental ecology and ethics behind it." For more information about the festival, call the chamber at 824-2282. There is still space available for food vendors, fishing and boating outfitters and suppliers, guide services, artists who specialize in fish and environmental art, and environmental groups interested in taking part.

DEP: Maine's tire piles are disappearing

From the Associated Press

A discarded tire pile fire, spewing toxic chemicals into the air, would still be disastrous for Maine, but it's a much less likely scenario today compared to five years ago, according to Maine's Department of Environmental Protection. A legislative initiative in 1996 has substantially reduced the number of old tire piles around the state, said Bill Butler of the state Department of Environmental Protection.

In 1996, there were five stockpiles of about 1 million tires each. One pile in Greenwood held more than 2 million. But now, all but one pile in the Sagadahoc County town of Bowdoin, have been eliminated. In 1996, DEP estimated there were between 22 million and 40 million old tires lying in piles at municipal landfills and at private, illegal dumps around the state. As of the end of April, there are about 11 million left.

"What we do have left is a lot of smaller piles, most with less than 100,000 tires," Butler said.

There may be private, illegal piles in the state that DEP hasn't identified, but enforcement efforts are taking aim at those, he said.

Maine has been so successful at reducing tire stockpiles, Butler said, that recently he was invited to speak at the International Tire Recyclers convention in Nashville, Tenn.

"We think we have a pretty good handle on tires in this state," he said.

Maine has created a market for chipped tires. Over the last five years, tires at municipal landfills and illegal dumps have been shipped to processing centers in Eliot, and in Massachusetts, Butler said. The tires are slashed into two-inch chips, which are sold to paper mills where they are used as supplemental fuel in boilers, and to businesses which use them in civil engineering applications.

A primary civil engineering use for the chips is in the beds of new or reconstructed roads.

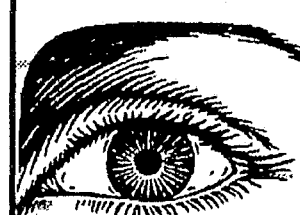

Between 1.7 million and 2 million tires are discarded annually in Maine, Butler said. Tire dealers and auto repair businesses are now required to contract with a licensed tire disposal business to get rid of old tires.

These businesses must be able to show a paper trail documenting the proper disposal of old tires. But not everyone plays by the rules.

Butler said Harry Smith had three illegal tire dumps in the Meddybemps and Cooper areas of Washington County, including one site with 1.7 million tires. Smith has been prosecuted for importing old tires into the state, he said, and state officials believe Smith is at it again.

Butler said the state is cracking down on people who take money to dump tires illegally.

"We've thrown him in jail once, and were preparing to throw him in jail again," Butler said.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published here by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

Have you ever noticed all the different kinds of pocketbooks women carry? I think a woman's pocketbook is probably her most important possession. It is necessary for carrying money, photos, identification and credit cards, but more importantly a pocketbook is necessary for all the purposes it serves.

My own pocketbook serves me in many ways. Not only is it where I would carry money and credit cards, if I had any, it is also a makeup case, a calendar of events, a medicine cabinet, a suitcase, a personal diary and, very often, a trash receptacle.

I guess a pocketbook is meant to be an accessory to match one's ensemble, at least in the world of high fashion that is the case. But I don't come from that world and I don't know anyone who does. I don't wear an ensemble; once in a while my clothes actually match, but that's because the law of averages dictates that one in fifty times, everything is clean at the same time.

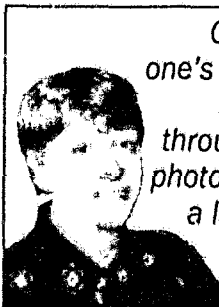

I carry the same pocketbook until it is no longer fit to carry. When it can no longer be glued, duct taped or stapled together, I get a new one. When I do get a new one it is a big occasion because I then have to clean out the old one.

Cleaning out one's pocketbook is a little like going through a family photo album and a landfill at the same time. It always amazes me that there are so many memories to associate with each scrap of paper and notes written on the back of old check stubs. I can tell you what I bought for groceries for the last year by my old shopping lists. I can count the number of rolls of film I have had developed by the number of receipts I always forget to turn in when I pick up the pictures. I can even tell you whom I forgot to send Christmas, birthday and get well cards to because they will still be in my pocketbook.

Selecting a new pocket book is no easy task. It's not just a matter of what color to choose or how it looks; how many compartments it has and how it feels are just as important. I also look for sturdy construction; it has to hold a lot of goods and it has to be able to take a lot of abuse.

I prefer the ones with a shoulder strap so I can keep my hands free. The shoulder strap has to be good and strong because any given day my pocketbook may weigh as much as 10 pounds. I have a habit of tossing change into the bottom of one compartment whenever I break a bill. When my shoulder can no longer bear the weight I know I have enough change to go shopping.

In spite of my change collection, I still never seem to have a penny when I need one. I have held up shoppers for hours while I pulled out old unpaid bills, lipstick, partial rolls of lifesavers, female things, perfume, screwdrivers, children's toys, used Kleenex, checkbook, calculator, emery boards, $12 in silver but no pennies.

Store managers that know me set a lawn chair up by the register when I have to have a check approved, they know it's going to be a while before I find my checkbook, not to mention any identification. They shudder when I mention that I think I have a rain check somewhere in my pocket book.

The men can laugh about this and make jokes about how their wives have everything but the Boston Red Sox in their pocketbooks, but check out their wallets sometime. You'll find old ticket stubs, postage stamps that are no longer stickable, band aids, old addresses or phone numbers written on the backs of match books for people they don't know, business cards for companies no longer in business, non-winning lottery tickets and car registrations for the last five years. How they fit all that junk in those little things I'll never know. Men have even been known to have back injuries caused by sitting lopsided due to an overstuffed wallet.

Now, even the men have options that enable them to carry more items of necessity with them. They can cram their essentials into backpacks and briefcases, sometimes camera cases. They would never be caught dead with a pocketbook, handbag or a purse, but they don't seem to mind having a "fanny pack" strapped to their waist.

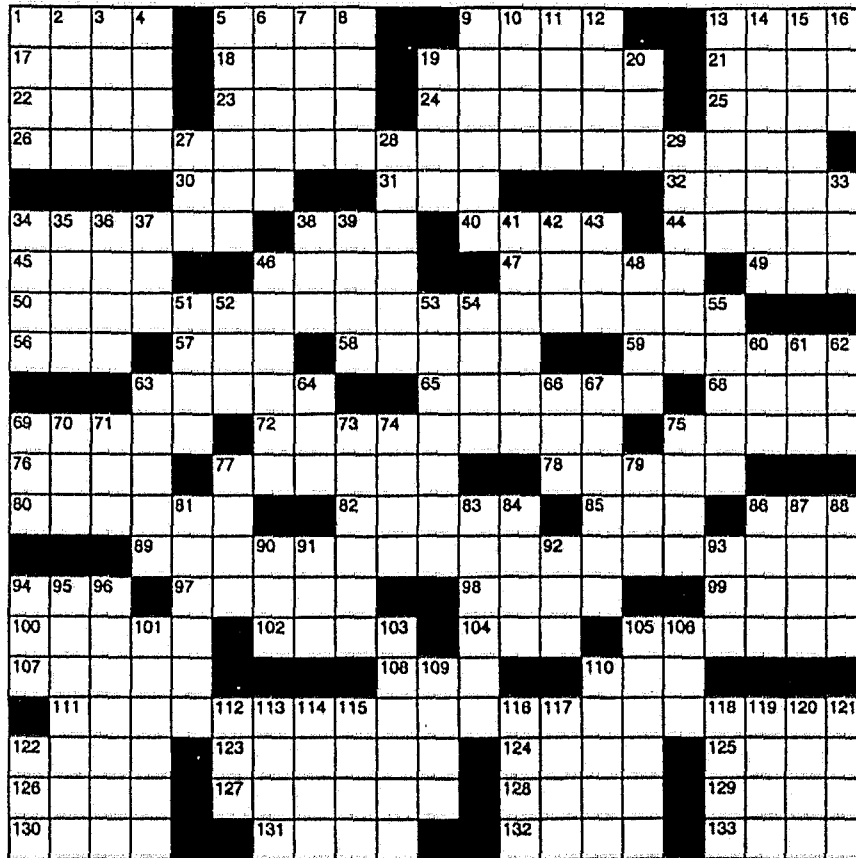

I think it's great that men can now go places and be prepared. It has always been the woman's responsibility to carry all the extras whenever a family went on an outing. Now the men can share in toting the sun tan oil and extra rolls of film in their "fanny packs."

I seldom go anywhere without my pocketbook; it's almost an extension of myself. It allows me to have pictures of my loved ones close to me. I'm never without a pen or a scrap of paper when I need one and I always have a place to dispose of gum wrappers and used Kleenex.

The way I see it everyone should carry something, be it a purse or a fanny pack. It's a very practical thing to do. I know a great little shop that sells satchels to meet all needs. If you ever want to know where it is, let me know; I have their business card - somewhere - in my pocketbook.

probably eight bunches, twice as many as last year. By next year I hope to have at least one full bush.

I am looking forward to the Bethel Library sale next weekend. I always find pretty flowers and bushes there. This year I am going for flowers. Mine need sprucing up. I got one of my lilac bushes there — I have three.

For the first time in a while I have turned student. I am taking an ITV class — my first — in Teaching the Exceptional Student. It is hard to sit in a classroom and talk to the TV, but at least the teacher doesn't know if I say anything nasty, just my fellow students. I did my first project, already — an interview with an exceptional student. I went to type it up and the thunder scared me away from the computer for a while. It scared Tasha, too. One clap was so loud we both jumped. It felt/sounded like it was right outside the bathroom window.

This weekend, for a change of pace, I went to the Fare Share Coop grand opening in the new store. It is much bigger and will eventually be finished wheelchair accessible and have well-trained staff. There is a new fancy sign out front. In any case, there was a dance as part of the festivities and I went and danced my fool legs off. My hips have been complaining loudly and clearly. Will I listen? Not if it means I can't dance.

My chore this week is to find a summer job. I have applied for a number of them, but am still waiting to hear. If anyone needs a good worker, call me. Of course, it has to be a smoke-free atmosphere, but that isn't too much to ask.

Have not seen the turkeys recently. Has anyone else? I have seen and heard many birds singing in the rain, but no turkeys. Come to think of it, I have seen very little wildlife except for squirrels, the horses and cows. Maybe they left for a wetter climate and will return now that the rains have come. I hope so. Usually we see an occasional deer and moose along with the turkey and fox. Maybe I need to take a new walking route. Tasha has probably scared them all away.

That is all for now. Next week I will write about the foods class barbecue and other such things. Have a good week, stay dry and drive carefully. We're not used to this rain driving.

township, it seems. He has raided Mike and Rosemary Stackhouse's back porch three evenings in a row, even though they put away the last of the birdseed after the first evening's raid. Rosemary told me the bear was ticked off the second night because there was nothing out for him to eat. He knocked everything on the back porch around, then stood up and looked in through the door windows to see if they were going to invite him in for dinner. They didn't.

The same bear (we think) went down the hill to "The Farm" after checking out the Stackhouse residence. There, the bear tipped over the large plywood box just outside the back door in which Rupert and Ina store rubbish and bird feed. He (the bear) knocked the box off the stoop and against their car's front fender, leaving a dent and a white stripe. He returned a couple nights later, only to be run off when Rupert opened the back door and roared at the startled bear, who was last seen headed for Rangeley.

A day or two later, Dan Grover found a set of bear tracks leading clear across his entire garden (newly tilled, of course). I also heard that a bear has been raiding our neighbors down on the Meadow Brook Bridge Road, about a mile from here. I think they really cover the ground.

Mona and I experienced a tragedy on Memorial Day evening. Our Hereford cow, Hannah, was trying to give birth to her new calf all day, unsuccessfully, it turns out. After what we considered the normal period of labor, Hannah was still trying. We talked to Keith and Norma Hodsdon, who are more experienced in such matters. By evening, they advised that we try to contact a vet. The one I finally caught up with was not encouraging; she basically told us the calf was probably already dead, and hope for Hannah's survival was little better than nil. Then, we contacted our neighbor, Marshall Fleet. He came up, examined the cow and basically confirmed what the vet had told us. The result was the loss of both Hannah and her calf.

Andover

Okay, it's time to give something back. The Andover Service Circle needs your help, and after all that this dedicated group has given to the town over the years, I think it's only fair that it's now our turn. For 15 years they have been sponsoring the Community Birthday Calendar. It is one of the ways that they earn money to donate to deserving residents in

GRANGE ENTERTAINERS
The Waterford Grange, Route 35 in North Waterford, will host the eighth performance in the Oxford County Grange Hall Tour. The Mahoosuc Arts Council, the Bethel Historical Society and the Oxford Pomona Grange are working together to support a tour of multidisciplinary performances at the 12 Grange Halls in the county. All tour events are open to the public. A public supper at 5:30 p.m. (adults $5 and children $2.50) will kick off the evening's festivities, followed by the performance at 6:30 p.m. The Open House will feature Maine storyteller, Henry Bascomb, and the French Canadian and Celtic fiddling of Fiddle Box, as well as poetry read by Wes McNair and the talents of Waterford Grange members. Donations will be accepted at the door. Shown here are (from left): Don Roy of Fiddle Box, storyteller John McDonald and Kevin McElroy of Fiddle Box.

very much appreciated.

People celebrating birthdays this week are: June 1 — Robert Cuff, Chuck Cornwell, Glenice MacDonald, Darin Morse, John Percival and Marsha Burns; June 2 — Jodi Putnam and Paul Anderson; June 3 — Carl Adam Cuff, Julie Burgi, Bobby Richardson; June 4 — Brenda Irish and Doug Averill; June 6 — Casey Brown; June 7 — Joey Drakus. Happy Natal Day everybody.

Congratulations to the Andover members of the graduating Class of 2001. Graduating from Telstar Regional High School are: Melissa Bailey, Lynsey Brown, Jay Cole, Mindy Hale, Sarah Mayberry, Raymond McLean, Darin Morse, Denise Scotti and Eric Swasey; and from Mountain Valley High School: Jonathan Downs. I am especially proud of my "hero," Raymond McLean (way to go, Raymond) and my wonderful next-door neighbor, Lynsey Brown. I hope that I haven't left anyone out; please call if I have.

Welcome to new Andover residents Joe and Tara Robinson. They bought the old Lester Farrington house. I hope they find East Andover a wonderful place to live.

I am wondering how I can get a "rooster-crowing ordinance" in effect for East Andover. Now I know that it is a natural thing for a rooster to crow to announce that the sun has once again risen, but don't you think that once or twice, or even three times, is enough to alert everybody? This morning between 6:24 and 6:30 that darn rooster announced to the neighborhood 14 times that it was time to get up. I am not a morning person so found all that crowing a might excessive. I am looking in cookbooks for a good recipe for stewed chicken.

And what really takes the cake is that all that crowing was for nothing; it's cloudy and rainy today and

by
Clem Worcester

Mary Thurston heard the slamming of the door at 2:15 on Monday morning. That was when the bear was caught. He spent the rest of the night thrashing around inside the trap. He cried and howled. When morning came, people stopped by to peep into the cage and he spat at them. He was a very unhappy bear. The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife officials came and hauled him away. They said they planned to let him loose far enough away so he would not find his way back to Hanover. The bear had been a regular visitor to homes in the area and had been known to break windows and doors in an attempt to find food.

Hanover selectmen met Tuesday, May 22, at the Town House. They worked on the planning stages of developing the new town office and discussed new building permit problems and shoreland concerns. The next selectmen's meeting is scheduled for June 26.

Early plans are being developed for the dedication of the Hanover Ferry Boat Landing on July 12, during the Androscoggin River Canoe Trek. It is expected that officials from Inland Fisheries and Wildlife and Mead Corporation will attend along with local representatives. A cookout will be prepared for the participants, who will approach from the Androscoggin and Ellis Rivers.

David and Kristan Shaw from Massachusetts have purchased the property at Howard Pond formerly owned by Glen LaForest. They have been to the cottage on weekends and are looking forward to becoming more familiar with the area.

Summer folks continue to return. Recently spotted in and about the area were Bruce and Viola Schneider, William and Mary Morgan, Bob and Maryanne Dragoon and Gerard and Catherine Seely. Also at his Howard Pond cottage is Kimball Martin.

Hanover residents are reminded of the second annual Hanover Campover on Saturday, June 2, at Stony Brook Campground. Look for games and good company with a potluck dinner at 4 p.m. Call Deb Barlow for dinner ideas and let Bruce and Shirley Powell know if you plan to stay overnight.

Dan Schwind and Grampa Bob Brown were driving on woods roads when they got good and stuck in a ditch. It took the skidder to get them out. Bob says that Dan was driving but Dan says he's not telling.

Call to worship at the Newry Community Church was held Sunday at 9 a.m., with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The prelude was by Jay Hanscom. The message of the day was "Our Purpose" from Rev. 22:14, "Blessed are they that do His Commandments, that they may have rights to the tree of life, and may enter in through the Gates into the city," and from St. Matthew 5:16, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven." A prayer followed, hymn sung and postlude. Amen.

Attention all members and non-members of the Newry Mothers Club — Please call Patty by June 6 at 824-2860 if you plan to attend the Town and Country Inn dinner on June 11 at 6 p.m. Guests are welcomed.

We see deer, moose and wild turkeys often when we travel Bear River Road.

Upton

The Memorial Day Holiday was a complete washout but we didn't need the rain. The forest fire danger is over for now. The grass, gardens and weeds are growing like mad.

Fishing and Memorial Day picnics will have to wait for a sunny day. The black flies and mosquitoes are thriving as they always do every year. They are really out for blood.

Among those visiting in Upton over the weekend were Pok Sun and David Lane and Dave's brother, Diane Williamson, her daughter, Michelle, and her husband, Rick, visited their camp. Great-grandchild Cameron Dubois, age 6, stripped of shoes and shirt and had a grand time in the rain. Diane and Michelle have purchased new kayaks and put them to good use on the lake.

Becky Kendall dropped in on Sunday, fresh back from the British Isles. She had a great trip.

Mike Stanczyk is recovering from his surgery at Dad Walter Stanczyk's. Liz, his mother, is visiting relatives in Germany.

Jim and Joy Yarnell visited with Phyllis and Charles Heywood for a southern Maine weekend.

Sue Nelson has again adorned the church with large pots of summer flowers. Sue and Larry spent the weekend on Cape Cod attending the first birthday party of grandchild Tara Murray.

Greetings to Gene Wixom, who is having a slow recovery from hip surgery.

Margaret Mitchell has returned from Florida for the summer.

Tex Fogwill has also returned to his camp on Back Street.

The Taylor family and the Hamels were busy sprucing up their camps for the weekend.

Caitlyn Wentworth, age 6, George and Simone Hamel's grandchild, helped Grandpa plant his garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Goose showed up on the lawn with three little yellow puffs. Mother Goose spent most of the day with the goslings tucked under her wing as protection from the rain.

The Scenic Byway Committee met at the Newry Town Office on Thursday. The date for the next meeting will be announced.

Ginny and Buster Williamson have a new great-granddaughter, Piper Johnston. Grandparents are Sue and Dwight Williamson. Mom and Dad are Pamela and Rhori Johnston of Indianapolis, Ind.

Last week was a great one for bird sightings. Joy and Jim Yarnell spotted a peregrine falcon on their property. Buster and I watched a turkey vulture soaring over the river.

Closer to home, a hawk, by type unknown, swooped in by my window and snagged a hummingbird. It probably was dessert after a "dove dinner." (Hateful bird.)

Perhaps one of the most unpopular birds seen in this area is the turkey vulture. Vultures conjure up a picture of dead decaying carcasses. Their dining habits, to say the least, are disgusting. But to this large bird it's "chow down" time.

They are very graceful flyers, soaring with a six-foot wingspan. Turkey vultures use their sense of smell as well as sight to find food. — the stinkier the better. They enjoy fish, rodents, snakes and vegetable matter. Obviously, they are not hard to please at dinner. Caves, hollow stumps, and thickets are nesting sites. Two brown eggs are laid on a bed of dry leaves or bare ground. The chicks are downy white when hatched. The nest is clean at first, but the young are fed by regurgitation. It is pretty smelly, discouraging human visitors. The chicks grow fairly rapidly, gaining the dark plumage of the parent birds. They can fly around sixty-five days after hatching. Many turkey vultures migrate south to join large flocks of approximately 30 birds. They are soaring birds, seldom traveling in straight lines. They circle frequently gaining altitude to maintain flight. The "Bird of the Week" is the turkey vulture.

For a rainy week (according to the forecasters) this has turned out to be pretty good, sunny and seasonably warm. The blackbird nesting in the pine out back of the house has had to make several trips to the pond to get wet and bring the moisture back to cool her eggs. It is amazing how they know just what to do.

I've really been amused by a couple of drakes that frequent the pond in the afternoon. Usually drakes are solitary once the nesting season is over, as near as I can see. But these come to the pond together. One is always just a bit ahead of the other by maybe an inch or so, but it is like watching the synchronized swimming. The first one seems to be trying to get away from the other one but that one sticks like glue. The first moves one way and so does the other, he tries to fly to the other shore, so does the other, left, right, no dice; the other one doesn't miss a beat. What is a poor duck to do with no stalking laws to protect him?

This has been a pretty quiet week compared to last week, but it seems to have gone by just as fast. Marcia called and said she couldn't get down this spring as Jon goes in for surgery soon, so she or maybe both will try to come in September. The way the weeks fly by, she will be here before one blinks an eye.

Former pastor John Grant's wife, Debbie, was ordained on Wednesday, May 23, at the South Portland Church of the Nazarene. She has worked hard to get her ordination papers and we all are very proud of her. I can't imagine what it must be like to have two ordained elders in one family. It's a good thing they both are ordained by the same church. Even then I'm sure there are differences of opinion. There always is. I wish I could have been at the ordination ceremony. They are always very meaningful and impressive. Alas, I seldom drive at night anymore and certainly not that distance and not where there is much traffic. My night vision is not what it was, alas.

Crystal Lake spent a week at Ft. Walton Beach, Fla. where her son, Brent, and his wife, Jessica, live. Brent and Jessica just bought a house, so of course Mom had to go see it. While Crystal was at Ft. Walton Beach, she enjoyed going to the Emerald Coast, which is 15 minutes from where Brent and Jessica live. The temperature got up into the 90s with water temp about 75 degrees. (What a life.)

One evening, Brent, Jessica, Crystal and another couple went out to supper in celebration of Brent and Jessica's first anniversary. In September, Brent will be going to Egypt for 10 weeks. Crystal hopes to take another trip to Florida, with Al this time, before Brent leaves for Egypt. She had a great time.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday, May 21, with 19 members and one guest. The meeting was on Deaf Awareness and Vickie Huff of the Deaf Awareness Committee for State Grange was guest speaker. Her mother was also present. Walter and Norma Elwell from Rhode Island were also present. It was voted to help the legion on a blood drive in August. The membership committee reported and on July 2 there will be a supper, open meeting, with music program following. Each member is to invite non-members. The windows have been looked at and will be all re-putted. The program went as follows: opening thought, "Thank God you can hear" by Bertha DeHaas; song by all, "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; Vickie Huff spoke and told about a contest, "If I lost my hearing today, what would I miss?" Write an essay of 300 words or less and send to Debbie Nelson or some member of the Deaf Awareness Committee. Vickie then taught a song in sign language to all present, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart"; Dot Canwell whistled a couple tunes; Mr. Elwell spoke briefly; Bertha DeHaas read "The Silent World"; mystery march; closing thought, "Thank God for his blessings"; song, "Let There Be Peace on Earth." The next meeting will be June 4 with Memorial program and election.

Patch the Pirate Club meets each Wednesday evening at the Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m., same time as prayer meeting. Sunday services are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 4:45 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will travel to Berlin, N.H. for dinner at the Northlands on Thursday, June 7.

On June 8, Telstar High School will hold graduation. Congratulations to all the graduates.

June 9, at 6 p.m., the Woodstock High School Alumni will hold a banquet at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills. Special guests are the classes of 1931, 1941 and 1951 and also Telstar seniors from Woodstock and Greenwood.

Susan Glines and Barbara Hathaway went to Lyndonville, Vt. on Sunday, May 20, to attend the graduation of Rachel Stowell, who graduated with honors, with a BA in graphic design.

Curator Larry Billings has sold 22 copies of the "Hamlin's Gore" book the historical society has for sale. Harlan Abbott and the West Paris Historical Society have bought copies of "Hamlin's Gore" and also the University of Maine at Orono has ordered one. Whitman Memorial Library and Kathleen Bean's daughter got one for Hamlin's Memorial Library and dozens of local people and visitors have bought copies. The Maine Historical Society in Portland has ordered a copy, as have local restaurants, antique shops, greenhouses, etc. Thanks to all. Hopefully the cost of publishing the book can be recouped soon at this rate.

Leon and Rosalie Poland of Woodstock and Ken and Sandra Poland of West Paris attended the wedding of their niece, Danielle Dayton, to Kyle Hasbrouck. Danielle is the daughter of Beverly and Howard Dayton of Georgia. The wedding was held May 19 at Daytona, Fla. with about 250 guests attending. Danielle was given away by both her parents and her brother, Matthew. Thursday night a rehearsal party was held on Daytona Beach.

Leilani and Burt Bertrum and son, Britton, and daughter, MacKenzie, of Florida were also at the wedding.

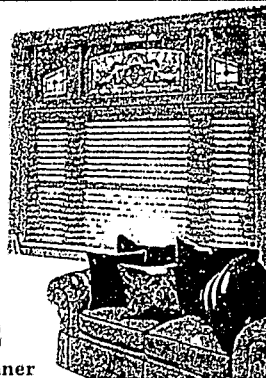

A phone was left open during the wedding so that the grandmother, Claribel Poland of South Woodstock, could hear the ceremony. Beverly Dayton is coming this week to spend a few days with her mother, Claribel Poland.

Ken and Leon Poland said they can't get away from the woods.

operation. They had to cut down a tree for Leilani Bertrum while in Florida.

Ken and Leon Poland visited the Daytona Speedway, and for $99 each they got to go around the race-track three times. The speed was 165 miles an hour. They said it was a real blast.

James and Evelyn Dunn stopped by for a short visit. They were in town for graveside services for Aarne Jarvenpaa. I hadn't seen them since they returned home to New Hampshire after spending the winter with their daughter, Patrice, in California.

Sunday, May 20, I attended the REACH luncheon and model show of 1800s outfits. My granddaughter, Sarah Hart, was one of the models. All who modeled did a good job. It was very interesting to watch. During the show, luncheon was served at the Bethel Inn and music was played by Duncan Slade. Sharon Rose from Channel 6 news was the commentator.

I had a nice visit with Carol Hall who was at the occasion as a volunteer for the day.

Honors at TRHS from this area are Paul Cox, Caitlin Gallagher and Daniel Morgan.

This Memorial Day and all year long, remember the servicemen and women who gave their lives and also those who served their country.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that he has given the museum a pair of brass candlesticks. Mr. Billings recently watched the video "Good Will Hunting." The Billings family had some fiddleheads and dandelion greens this spring. It is an old New England custom.

Happy birthday to those celebrating this month of June. They are Megan Mack, Craig Ryerson, Duane Ryerson, Brandy Poland, Gary Critser, Danielle Appleby, Alishia Miclon, Elaine Wilday, Alexis Grover, Ciara Nadeau, Jerry Verrill, Marguerite Verrill, Lonnie Hadley, Maurice Morgan and Phil Lynch.

The week just gone by has had a few nice evenings so one of the girls and I enjoyed one of them by sitting outside in the lawn swing. We listened to the voices of the frog peepers. Springtime was all around; budding maples and the breeze joined hands with the leaves to run down the driveway. I listened for the call of the whippoorwill but none came. I never hear one here in town and often wonder why. Where I lived as a child I heard them almost every evening.

No one has delivered any news this week.

I was invited to go for a ride twice lately, which I enjoyed very much.

Mary Holt came to see me this week.

Eleanor Inman is better from knee surgery.

Wednesday, May 23, saw the Junior Community Choir in good voice for their final rehearsal of the spring. They enjoyed a "delicious" party afterward in the Senior Sunday School room at West Paris Baptist Church. They sang their "Spring Butterfly" song at the Baptist Church on Sunday, May 27, at the morning service. The Junior Choir will be on vacation until school convenes in September.

West Paris is indeed fortunate to have Lisa Kurtz as the leader for our very own majorette team. Have you been fortunate enough to see them? As short a time as they have been in existence, they came in third place for the competition earlier this year. We all think they are terrific. Good going girls. They did a magnificent job for us this Memorial Day. We just want you all to know how proud we all are of you. The Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School played this year for us, doing an excellent job as always. You do a wonderful job with these young people, Kyle.

The West Paris Senior Citizens will meet the first Tuesday in June, June 5, at the Abbott Hill Road residence of Mrs. Susie Abbott in North Paris for a potluck luncheon at noon, followed by a meeting and program. Come out seniors and enjoy.

West Paris Grange 298 was the host to a group of 49 for their CWA supper and program on Thursday, May 17, under the direction of Peggy Blake, CWA chairwoman.

Officers for the evening were: master, Vickie Huff; overseer, Jeannie Burnham; lecturer, Peggy Blake; steward, Clara Hamlin; assistant steward, Shirley Hatch; lady assistant steward, Betty Bragg; chaplain, Bunny Easter; gatekeeper, Shirley Edwards; secretary, Amy Andrews; treasurer, Nina Grover; Ceres, Alice Hoyt; Pomona, Margery Kimball; Flora, Lucille Robbins; pianist, Dot Canwell; executive committee, Marion Jones, Barbara Mahler, Marion Tripp; CWA committee, Pat Breame, Jane Hosterman, Bertha DeHaas. There were 23 past and present CWA members present. Peggy Blake, West Paris Grange CWA chairman, was presented a certificate of honor by Dolores Moore, state CWA chairman.

A very interesting program of music, monologues, games and speakers was presented by Peggy. Lucille Robbins did "Senior Sentiments and Moments" and Russell Yates did "Deacon Brown's Courtship" monologues. Both were very good. Dot Canwell whistled and Bertha sang. Mystery march winners were Bunny Easter, Wendell Easter and Jeannie Burnham. A very good time was had by all.

On Wednesday, May 23, eight members of Daughters of Union Veterans, Hannah F.

Richardson Tent 19 met at the K of P Hall for their monthly meeting. This was roll call where members give a reading of some sort when their names are called. There were some interesting ones. This was also a memorial service for the deceased members of the organization. Red, white and blue carnations were placed on the Bible as the secretary read the names. This has always been done and is a nice tradition and shows respect for the members and organization.

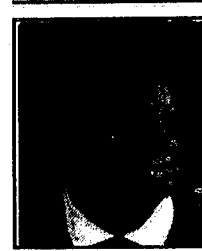

Plans were discussed about the supper to be held at the church vestry for the Oxford Country Republicans, which the DUV is putting on June 12. The social hour is usually 5 to 6 p.m., with supper at 6 to 7 p.m. and meeting 7 to 8 p.m. The next DUV meeting will be June 27.

As you people know, the Family Banquet will be held this year at Camp Susan Curtis on June 7 at 6 p.m. Sharon McAllister has tickets at the store and Mary Grover also has tickets. I believe the menu is a roast pork dinner with all the fixings and there will be a speaker and slides (pictures, that is). It sounds like a good evening. This is to help local kids be able to attend summer camp for two weeks. Hope you can make it.

Albert Nelson Jr. and helpers have been busy with work on the graves, and Albert Nelson Sr. has been busy with his wood delivery work. Dean Saunders has been helping him recently, also Barry Andrews.

June 6th, I believe, is the date for the "Friendly Senior Citizens" to meet at the North Waterford Church vestry at 11 a.m. for lunch and meeting.

The May sale at Goodwill Hall last Saturday was well attended and the rhubarb pies sold quickly. Guess next year we will have to have more.

Joyce Lamb was at Ferry Beach last Sunday for the 100th anniversary celebration.

West Paris Historical Society met on Monday night for their annual oyster stew supper, with 42 members and guests, thanks to Faye and Harlan Abbott. We also had beef stew, made by Nancy Penley, for those who do not like oyster stew. The women furnished pies for dessert.

Tuesday evening, nine of the Goodwill Fellowship group had their annual "out to eat" supper at Youly's in Turner. Everyone enjoyed their meal.

Tuesday afternoon, Vern and I were in North Conway and watched granddaughter, Caroline Sanborn, play softball. Her team won. In the evening, we enjoyed a band concert at Kennett High School, Conway, N.H. in which our grandson, Brant Sanborn, played saxophone in the jazz band and the concert band for seventh and eighth-graders. It was excellent.

The next day, Wednesday, we attended a luncheon and meeting at the Ground Round in Augusta with 30-plus retired postmasters.

Yesterday morning when we looked out our back kitchen window we saw a woodchuck craning his neck looking for something to eat on our deck. Guess we live in the woods. We are also having orioles, rose-breasted grosbeaks, woodpeckers and now and then catbirds at our feeders.

Looking for something interesting to do this coming weekend? Look no further. The Bethel Historical Society cordially invites anyone with an interest in antique lighting devices to the opening of its new 2001 exhibit, "Light Years Ago: The Art and Science of the Kerosene Lamp," this Friday, June 1, at 7 p.m. in the Mason House Exhibit Hall. This special exhibition, which runs until Dec. 15, presents a variety of interesting products of the Kerosene Era from the collection of Pat Stewart of Greenwood. Included are "Little Harry's Night Lamp," only three inches tall; beautiful miniature "Twinkle" lamps in cobalt and lavender; practical lamps used by barbers, photographers, policemen, and sailors; and attractive parlor lamps and regal banquet lamps.

A gallery talk, led by Pat Stewart, will begin shortly after 7 p.m., so arrive early for the best seats. Refreshments will be served and the event is free.

For more information about this exhibit and upcoming exhibits at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center, visit our Web site exhibits page: <http://www.ctel.net/~bethelhistory/exhibits.htm>

The 22nd Annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show was held on Saturday, May 26 at the O'Neil Robinson House. Sponsored by the Historical Society for SAD44 elementary students, the show's theme this year was the arrival of the railroad in Bethel on March 10, 1851. Students were encouraged to depict this scene of 150 years ago. There were over 200 entries, but only about half were considered completed by the society's Art Committee. Winners were in Division I (Grades One and Two) were first prize, Michael Coriveau, C.P.S.; second prize, Erich Zurhorst, A.E.S.; third prize, Mickey Kelly, C.P.S.; Division II (Grades Three and Four), first prize, Troy Murphy, C.P.S.; second prize, Jack Brink, C.P.S.; third prize, Molly Keyes, C.P.S.; Division III (Grades Five and Six), first prize, Cary Bolsma, C.P.S. There were no winners for second and third prizes in this category. Judges this year were Tim Kavanagh, Danna Nickerson, and Judy Hall. Thanks go to everyone who participated, to Helen Morton for hosting on Saturday, and to the S.A.D44 art teacher, Cindy Worcester, for all her support.

The St. Never's Day Sale on the porch of the Robinson House netted nearly $500 for the capital campaign. Thanks are extended to Lois Kilroy, who chaired the event, and her very efficient committee, Dean and Priscella Walker, Nancy Morris, Lucy Nordahl, Susan Herlihy, and Jackie Van Leuven, who performed so well on this project. Much appreciation is also due everyone who donated items for the sale.

At a.m. on May 26, the 35th anniversary of the society's founding was observed with a cake cutting by two charter members, who helped start the society in the Bethel Library in May 1966. Rosalind Rowe Chapman and Geraldine Howe were present to cut the cake and partake in the festivities. Special thanks go to Lois Kilroy for making and decorating the cake for this occasion.

Sixteen other individuals also founded the society in 1966. They include Dr. Bryant Bean, Eva M. Bean, Margaret Carter Bean, Elizabeth Mason Carter, Philip and Mary Chadbourne, Edith H. Eypner, Agnes H. Haines, Ralph Hall, Charles E. Heywood, Edith K. Howe, Bernice H. Noyes, Vance and Janet Richardson, Faye S. Taylor, and Nell W. Valentine. In addition to the two charter members who attended the event, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. M.C. Bean, and the Richardsons are the only survivors.

It was noted at this observance that the society has grown to 1,200 members, become the owner of two historic properties, and emerged as one of the leading historical organizations in the state of Maine during the past 35 years.

The second of the society's 2001 Lecture Series will be held on Thursday, June 7, in the Exhibit Hall of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The featured speaker will be Alice Arlen, author of a biography of Louise Dickinson Rich entitled, "She Took to the Woods," which will also be the topic of the lecture. There is no admission charge and the session is open to all interested persons.

Over a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For the past 35 years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

The 2001 Annual Fund for the Bethel Library has raised a total of more than $15,000 in the campaign that extends through June 30. The Bethel Library trustees are very grateful to the individuals and businesses that have responded to the appeal so far.

Recent donors to the Bethel Library Annual Fund include: Romeo and Jo Baker, Don and Katherine Bennett, Jonathan and Kathy Goldberg, Gareth and Deborah Kucinkas in honor of Patrick Falk Kucinkas, Chad and Irene McGrew, Cynthia Moxcey, Carol Nielsen, Kevin O'Reilly and Nancy Eaton, Thomas and Susan Roberti, Kirk and Martha Siegel, Phil and Suzanne Taylor, Margaret Joy Tibbetts, Jerry and Shireen Vincent, Dennis and Rita Wilson and Jim and Joy Yarnell.

Supporting businesses and organizations include: Bethel Inn and Country Club, Casablanca Cinema, and Western Maine Supply.

These donors join more than 220 individuals, families and businesses donating to the library's Annual Fund since the kick-off in October.

The Annual Fund supports completion of the handicapped-accessible bathroom that is already done, the conversion to a computerized catalog system, and provides funding toward the renovation of the stacks with adjustable shelving arranged in a user-friendly manner. Gifts, which are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by the Internal Revenue Service, may be sent to the Bethel Library Annual Fund, Box 130, Bethel, ME 04217.

From the

Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats will meet on Wednesday, June 13 at 6 p.m. at the Porter Town Hall on Route 160. Maine Secretary of State Dan Gwadosky will be the speaker, on the subject of election reform. The meeting is open to Democrats and all interested citizens.

Other business will include election of representatives to the State Convention committees on Platform, Rules and Permanent Organization, as well as continued work on goals and strategies for the Oxford County Democrats.

Anyone who is interested in becoming involved in Oxford County Democratic activities and cannot attend the meeting is asked to contact Oxford County Democratic Chair Cathy Newell of Greenwood, 875-2116, or vice chairs Joe Derouche of Mexico, 364-4728, or Pam Pinault of Porter, 625-7334.

From the

Bethel Rotary Club

The Bethel Rotary Club is happy to be offering a Non-Traditional Education Assistance Award. This award is given to persons living in the SAD44 area, other than high school seniors, and enrolled in programs to further their education in their chosen profession.

Applications are available by calling Kevin Finley at 824-4913. The deadline for the application is June 15.

From the

Oxford County Republicans

Major General J.K. Tinkham, adjutant general for the state of Maine, who oversees the National Guard in Maine, veterans affairs and emergency management, was the featured speaker at the May meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee held at the Wilkins House in Waterford. A delicious lasagna dinner, prepared by members of the Hannibal Hamlin Republican Women's Club, preceded the meeting. General Tinkham provided many insights into the operations of his office from overseeing the welfare of over 100,000 Maine veterans to providing contingency planning for acts of nature such as last winter's record snowstorms.

During the business meeting, Chairman Paul Billings of Woodstock continued the committee's work in gathering voting lists in preparation for next year's elections. Candidate recruitment efforts are also being given high priority by the committee, so that many candidates will be in place by the end of the year poised to begin campaigns early in 2002.

Several legislators were called upon for comment on the current session, including Senator Richard Bennett (R-Norway), Rep. Ted Heidrich (R. Oxford), and Rep. Tom Winsor (R-Norway).

The next meeting will be in Stoneham on June 12 at the East Stoneham Congregational Church. The speaker will be former State Senator James D. Libby, currently a Republican candidate for Maine governor next year.

Gould Academy graduates 70

By AMY CHAPMAN

Seventy seniors received diplomas at Gould Academy's 165th commencement exercises Saturday morning.

The ceremony, which was held on the athletic field adjacent to Gould's Ordway Hall, was attended by several hundred family and friends of the graduates.

Following the traditional processional of faculty and graduating seniors, the Rev. Brendon Bass of the West Parish Congregational Church gave the invocation. Alan B. Ordway '58, president of the Gould Academy Board of Trustees, introduced the keynote speaker, William P. Clough III. Clough, who has been headmaster of Gould since 1983, is retiring from that position in June.

Student leader John Allison Duncan IV was chosen by his classmates to present the senior student address. Duncan, who has attended Gould for two years, has been active in many facets of academic and extracurricular student life and served as a student proctor during his senior year. The son of John and Lisa Duncan of Barrington, R.I., he will attend Whitman College in September.

Valedictorian Elizabeth Cabot Baribeau addressed the class, encouraging them to recognize the value of the relationships they have formed at Gould and will form in the future.

Baribeau, a student proctor and National Honor Society member, is the daughter of Robert Baribeau of Bethel and Louisa Parsons of North Haven. She has attended Gould for three years, and will continue her education in the fall of 2002 at either Mt. Holyoke College or Guilford College.

Director of Student Life Lorenzo P. Baker IV then announced the presentation of honors to members of the graduating class.

Robert Douglas Bruce III received the Headmaster's Bowl, presented annually to the senior who has exhibited the highest standards of scholarship, character, and service to the school and participation in activities of the school. Baribeau received the Scholarship Shield, awarded to the senior with the highest academic average.

Graduates whose names will be engraved on Gould Academy's Honor Plaque are Bruce, Baribeau, Katherine Wheelock Davison, Emily Prudden Drummond, Meg Elizabeth Favreau, William Patrick Schmitt, and Kevin Patrick Wright.

Andrea Margaret Viens and John Lawrence Lynch received the Elwood F. Ireland Award for their contributions to the school community in the areas of service, leadership, and character.

The Annie Daley Courchesne Award, celebrating the spirit of student involvement in social, political, and environmental causes, was presented to Drummond.

Davison received the Francis "Hi" Berry Award, and Patrick John Donovan, the Joe Roderick Award, for outstanding competitive spirit through example and overall competence in athletics.

The Ralph Gould Music Award was presented to Kazuhito David Shimazu. Eun-Jeung Kim received the Art Department Purchase Award; a piece of her artwork has been selected and purchased by the faculty to be permanently displayed at the school. She was also awarded the Rhode Island School of Design President's Award.

Meg Elizabeth Favreau received the Gould Academy Alumni/ae Association Award, given to a graduate whose parent or grandparent attended Gould Academy. She is the daughter of Leon '61 and Suzanne Favreau of Shelburne, N.H.

Academic Book Prizes were presented to the following students: English and AP Biology — Robert Douglas Bruce III; History — William Patrick Schmitt; Mathematics and Chemistry — Katherine Wheelock Davison; Mathematics and Spanish — Kazuhito David Shimazu; Ecology and French — Elizabeth Cabot Baribeau; Physics and Pottery — Emily Prudden Drummond; Art — Angus Leslie Graham and Eun-Jeung Kim; Drama — Meg Elizabeth Favreau.

The Linwood "Lindy" Lowell Award, an honor voted upon by the graduating class, is given annually to the member of the senior class whose friendly personality and helpful nature have brightened the lives of fellow students. The Class of 2001 chose to award the honor posthumously to classmate Bradley Wallace Cunningham, who died in a skiing accident in January. Brad's younger sister, Lauren Cunningham of Waitsfield, Vt., accepted the award.

Clough and Ordway then presented diplomas to the graduating seniors. Rev. Bass gave the benediction, and organist Faye Hill played the recessional.

On Friday evening before commencement, Gould's traditional baccalaureate exercises were held at the West Parish Congregational Church, with the Rev. Jean Bass of Bethel officiating. History Department Chair Paul McGuire, who is retiring after 32 years at Gould, and graduating senior Stuart Klanfer of Armonk, N.Y. were selected by the class of 2001 to address them.

After baccalaureate, the graduates and their parents attended a reception at the home of Bill and Ki Clough and a buffet dinner in Gould's Ordway Hall, followed by the annual commencement concert in Bingham Auditorium.

Underclass awards and NHS induction

Gould Academy held its annual Underclass Awards and National Honor Society Induction Ceremony on Sunday, May 20.

To be eligible for election to the National Honor Society, a student must first earn a minimum scholarship average of 85. Second, a candidate is considered for service, leadership, and character by vote of the faculty. New members of the National Honor Society are sophomores William Murphy and Richard Davison of Bethel, Shula Bien of Jay, and Lauren Jacobs of Winthrop; juniors Emmett Donovan and Chelsea Marshall of Bethel, Erika Hoddinott of Wayne, Megan Holtham of Menemsha, Mass., Kyle Rogers of Manchester, Kathryn Warner of South Hamilton, Mass., Nicola Wood of New Canaan, Conn., and Sarah Zvonkovic of New York, N.Y.; and seniors Angus Graham of Bethel, Meg Favreau of Shelburne, N.H., Timothy Hall of Coral Springs, Fla., and David Shimazu of Tokyo, Japan.

Academic book prizes are awarded to the top students in the ninth, 10th, and 11th grades by department and individual courses. Book prizes for English were awarded to Caroline Beatty of Yarmouth, Shula Bien of Jay, and Caroline Coombs of Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Mathematics book prizes were awarded to Quinn McAllister and William Murphy of Bethel, Ethan Elliott-Williams of Woodstock, and Dai Kamamoto of Hyogo, Japan.

The History department awarded its book prizes to Quinn McAllister, Anne Colpitts of Peru, and Chelsea Marshall. Quinn McAllister also received the French prize, and Zeke Davison was honored for his Spanish studies.

The prize for best student in the Nature of Science class was awarded to freshman Matthew Humbert of Shelburne. Lauren Jacobs was awarded the academic book prize for Biology, and Ryan Linn of Belfast received the prize for Computer Science.

Samantha Olney of Nantucket received the book prize for Navigation. Daniel Tutor of Islesboro and Nicola Wood were honored for their excellence in art. Kristen Murphy of Portsmouth, R.I. was awarded the prize for music, and Anne Colpitts for Drama.

Several special named prizes were also awarded.

The Rensselaer Award is given to the student in the junior class with the highest combined average in science and mathematics. Dai Kamamoto is this year's recipient.

Caroline Coombs received the Wellesley Book Award, which is presented by the Western Maine Wellesley College Club to a female member of the junior class with exceptional qualities in the areas of academic performance, character, and contributions to extracurricular and/or community life.

Nicola Wood was selected as the recipient of the Edmond J. Vachon Award, created by Gould Academy in honor of Headmaster Emeritus Vachon, which is presented annually to a member of the junior class who exemplifies outstanding contribution to the school and achievement in the community.

The Bausch and Lomb Science Award, awarded to a top member of the junior class "in recognition of outstanding academic achievement and superior intellectual promise in the field of science" was presented to Ryan Linn.

Allison Goddard of Freeport received the Gayle A. Foster Award, given in memory of Foster, an internationally known photographer who taught photography and physics at Gould and advised the Camera Club. The award is given to the student who has exhibited the most outstanding work in photography. Goddard also received the Art Department Purchase Award. Each spring during the Student Art Exhibition, one piece, representing the year's accomplishments, is selected by the faculty and purchased from the artist to be permanently displayed at the school.

Caroline Coombs, Erika Hoddinott, and Megan Holtham were chosen to serve as head proctors for next year. Also elected were Emily Bearer of North Bridgton, Sarah Felton of Hamilton, Mass., Caitlin Hathaway of Kennebunkport, Chelsea Marshall and Adora Burke of Bethel, Kate Warner, and Nicola Wood. Also, Rory Dwyer of Yarmouth, Geoff Gibbons of Hyde Park, Vt., Rush Hawkins of Shelburne, Mass., Dylan Hood of Marblehead, Mass., Matthew McCawley of Jeffersonville, Vt., Gregory Perchik of West Boxford, Mass., Thompson Riley of Hampton, N.H., Emmett Donovan of Bethel, Cory Wood of Randolph, N.H., Dai Kamamoto, Ryan Linn, and Kyle Rogers.

FOSTER PARENTS NEEDED

Rumford Group Homes, Inc. invites a couple to join us in providing a warm, nurturing foster home setting for up to four youth on a short-term basis. The couple must live in our agency home. Unfortunately we cannot accommodate couples that wish to have their own children live with them in our home.

Rumford Group Homes, Inc. offers excellent compensation ($18,500) for the house parent. One parent may work outside the home. Benefits to the right individual/couple including housing, weekly respite, vacation, food, training and clinical consultation.

Qualifications include: current Maine driver's license with clean driving record, eligibility for foster parent licensure, flexibility and the ability to provide positive and supportive care to youth. Interested parties with education in the Human Services field and/or experience working with at risk children/youth on a short term basis are encouraged to apply.

Excellent opportunity for growth in the human services field while living in a beautiful home in a community setting.

Please submit a cover letter and resume by June 8, 2001 to:

Obituaries

JAMES A. ROBICHAUD

James A. Robichaud, 66, died Friday, May 18, 2001 at the James Haley Veterans Hospital, Tampa, Fla., following a battle with cancer. A resident of Mexico, he had resided in Peru and Dixfield areas most of his life.

He was born in Mexico on Nov. 16, 1934, the son of J. Anthony and Pauline (Frost) Robichaud, attended schools in Peru and Rumford and graduated from Stephen's High School in Rumford Class of 1953.

Mr. Robichaud served with the U.S. Navy from 1956 to 1960, and for many years owned and operated Jim's Office Machines until retirement.

He was a communicant of St. Joseph's Mission Church in Dixfield; a member of Napoleon Ouellette Post 24, American Legion of Rumford; Member of the Loyal Order of Moose 2073 of Merrit, Fla.; Member Rumford Falls Aerie 1248, F.O.E. of Rumford. He enjoyed golf, bowling, fishing and hunting, RVing, and playing his bass guitar and was formerly a long-time member of the Dixfield Lions Club. He was married at Labrador Pond, Sumner, on Sept. 11, 1993 to Rosemarie "Poochie" Vatalaro, who survives of Mexico.

Other survivors besides his wife include his mother, Mrs. Pauline Robichaud of Shawmut; five sons, David Robichaud of Bethel, Anthony Robichaud and wife Tina of Lewiston, Michael Robichaud of Dixfield, Adam Robichaud and wife Sharon of Mexico, Daniel Robichaud of Fayetteville, N.C.; step-children Darren Blanchard and companion Rebecca Fontaine of Mexico, David Hutchinson of Winthrop, Melissa Hutchinson of Winthrop; two sisters, Mrs. Lorraine Legere and companion Ed Pinek of Dixfield, Mrs. Virginia "Ginny" Palmer and companion Kenny Swionkowski of Shawmut; a brother, John Robichaud and his wife Patricia of Jay; two grandsons; four granddaughters; and was predeceased by a sister, Marie Suzanne Robichaud, who died Sept. 24, 1992.

Funeral services were held Wednesday evening, May 30, at the Meador & Son Funeral Home, Rumford, with Fr. Joseph Lange officiating. Interment was at Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery, Augusta. Donations in his memory may be made to the American Cancer Society, 52 Federal St., Brunswick, Me. 04011.

HENRY DAMON SR.

Henry Damon Sr., 67, of West Paris died peacefully at his home on Thursday, May 24, 2001, following a long illness.

He was born in Albany on April 30, 1934, the son of Herbert and Edith Rugg Damon. He was employed as a woodsman and had been custodian for SAD17 for 28 years.

He enjoyed snowmobiling, four-wheeling, hunting, fishing and feeding his birds. He also enjoyed spending time at their camp in Eustis and with his grandchildren.

Survivors include his wife, Joan of West Paris; children, Sharyl and Ed Fellows of South Paris, Linda and Merton Hodgkin of Norway, Holly and Milton Bean II of West Paris, Richard and Tanya Casey of Auburn, and Henry Jr. of Effingham, N.H.; two sisters, Erma Hatch of Norway and Beatrice Levesque of Berlin, N.H.; many wonderful grandchildren; and nieces and nephews.

At the request of Mr. Damon, there were no services. In lieu of flowers, those who wish may make contributions to the Maine Special Olympics, 125 John Roberts Road, Suite 19, South Portland, ME 04106 or the Brain Injury Association of Maine, 211 Maine Avenue, Suite 200, Farmingdale, ME 04344.

CHRIS B. WILSON

Chris B. Wilson, 35, of Harrison, died unexpectedly Thursday, May 24, 2001.

He was born in Norway on Dec. 30, 1965, the son of Elliot and Susie Ingalls Wilson.

He attended local schools and graduated from Oxford Hills High School in 1984. He was the owner of Wilson's Plumbing & Heating for several years. He married the former Lisa Johnson on May 25, 1984.

He enjoyed camping, hunting, bowling, playing pool and spending time with his family.

Survivors include his wife of Harrison; his mother of South Paris; three daughters, Sheena, Ashley and Cassandra "Shorty" all of Harrison; three brothers, Tony Cole and Kirk Cole and his wife Carol all of South Paris, and Shane Wilson and his wife Sarah of West Paris; two sisters, Kim Gagne and her husband Roland of Norway and Shannon Frechette and her husband Jim of South Paris; as well as several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his father.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, May 30, at the Weston-Chandler Funeral Home, South Paris. Those who wish may contribute to a Trust Fund for the Wilson children, c/o Ron Snow, 360 Management Services, 310 Main Street, Norway, ME 04268.

ALFRED L. MERRILL

Alfred L. Merrill, 95, a longtime resident of West Bethel, died early Saturday morning, May 26, 2001 at Ledgeview Living Center, West Paris. He was born in Mason Township on Jan. 22, 1906, the son of Thomas and Lura Westleigh and received his education in the local schools of the time.

Mr. Merrill enjoyed the outdoor life and fellowship of his family. He always found time to take his sons, daughters and grandchildren hunting, fishing and hiking. He was very proud of having hiked up Mt. Washington via the Tuckerman's Ravine Trail seven times during his lifetime. In later years he found that snowmobiling could take him and his family and friends to places he could no longer walk. He and his wife often led their children and friends to places less traveled.

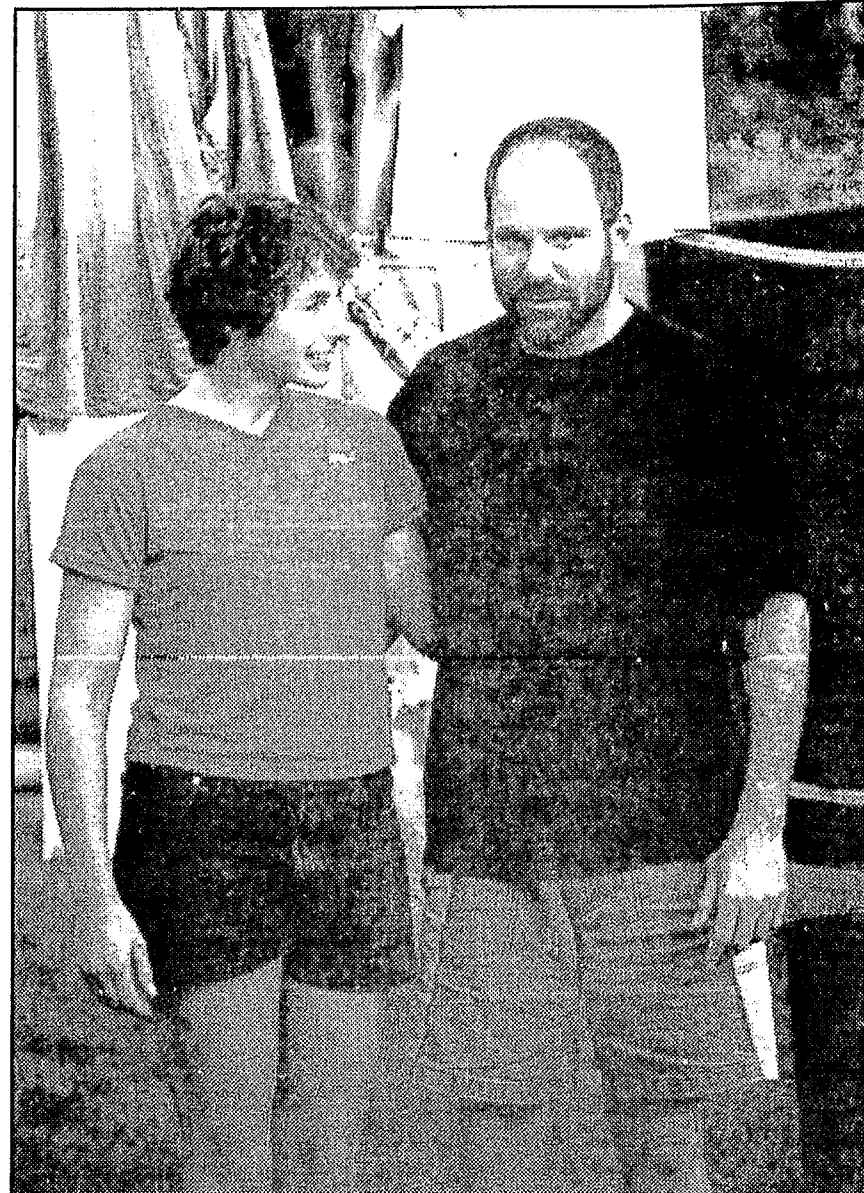

After his marriage to Margaret M. Clough on Nov. 16, 1927, they lived in East Waterford where Mr. Merrill worked on a large dairy farm. He later had the opportunity to move his family to Meriden, N.H., where he managed the dairy farm for Kimball Union Academy. In the early forties he had the opportunity to move his family back to West Bethel where he purchased the family farm which became his home for the remainder of his life.

Mr. Merrill worked in the woods for many years and later worked at a local dowel mill. In 1964 he and his wife built and operated the Red Lantern Dairy Bar for fifteen years prior to his retirement. After his retirement, he spent several winters monitoring a chairlift at Sunday River Skiway.

Mr. Merrill is survived by his children, Ms. Alberta Merrill of Bethel; June Staples and her husband Roscoe of Raleigh, N.C.; two sons of West Bethel, Dwight and his wife Elaine and Emerson and his wife Loretta; a stepbrother, Ernest Westleigh of Albany; eight grandchildren, Becky Walcott, Rocky Staples, Greg Merrill, Cheryl Boulanger, Christen Mason, Rusty Merrill, Samantha Murch, and James Merrill; eleven great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. Mr. Merrill was predeceased by his wife of 67 years, who died in 1995; a son, Charles A. Merrill; a son-in-law, Cornelius (Neil) Merrill; two stepbrothers, George Westleigh and Henry Westleigh; and a stepister, Lillian Anderson.

Funeral services were held at the West Bethel Union Church in West Bethel on Tuesday, May 29, with interment at Pine Grove Cemetery, West Bethel. In lieu of flowers, those who wish may send donations to the West Bethel Union Church, West Bethel, ME 04286.

Mr. & Mrs. Harold Herschlag

Lesley Connelly and Harold Herschlag were married in Livermore Falls on May 29, 2001. A close friend, Peggy Dwyer, performed the civil ceremony. Three more friends, Brie Weisman, Jon Starr and Suzanne Newsom acted as witnesses. The couple plans to celebrate through the year with family and friends.
